

How Angels Die

Based on the Movie 37: A Final Promise that hit Movie Theatres in August 2014. When the author discovers that the love of his life has a virulent case of Multiple Sclerosis, and that she does not want to endure the suffering any longer, he is forced to consider and enact the unthinkable. Guy Blews opens up the discussion of assisted suicide in a way that encourages the reader to see it as an act of unconditional love. This emotional journey is a tour de force that deftly and courageously allows love to conquer all. Torn between a deep understanding of what she needs and the moral dilemma of what is right, Guy was left with one choice; to support her in everything she did because he loved her more than anything.

Movie Reviews: An old-fashioned tearjerker set to a goth-rock soundtrack Variety An incredible love story based on actual events - Huffington Post Love this movie! A modern day Love Story...the epitome of being in love -UBN Radio Batinkoff handles his directing and acting abilities quite well -The Examiner
