

Side-by-Side: Families Learning and Living the Faith Together

Even in churches that attract large numbers of families, the education program frequently suffers from a lack of participation. Parents may feel that Sunday is their only time to be together as a family and are hesitant to spend an hour separated from their children in Sunday school. Side-by-Side is a book of Sunday school lessons that allow parents and children to learn about the Christian faith alongside one another. Also an excellent resource for mid-week programs and for intergenerational or family retreats.
